1. The newspaper El Litoral of Santa Fe carried an article stating that, from 9 - 12 November 1953, Jozsef Elso, Second Secretary of the Hungarian Legation¹ in Buenos Aires, would be in Santa Fe and that the motion picture theater, Cine Belgrano, in that city had been rented for exhibiting two technicolor films entitled "El Cuidador de los Gansos" and "Gente de Cine".

3. In Rosario, Argentina, from 30 November to 6 December 1953, Elso arranged for the same film program as given in Santa Fe. During the film showing, the performance was interrupted on at least two occasions by groups of Hungarians and Germans in the audience, who booed and whistled at the film but kept quiet when the lights were turned on.
